Summer is all about nice weather, good company and great food. There is nothing like enjoying a good meal with a cold drink and listening to music with friends. Public holidays in the United Kingdom usually fall on Mondays so people enjoy a three-day relaxing weekend. If the weather is warm and the sun is shining, friends and family meet and have what the British and Australians call a " Barbie", a short form of the word "barbecue", in their backyard, park or on the beach. Children run around and play and their parents cook the food, prepare the drinks and have a good chat. They know that hamburgers, sausages and chicken cooked on a grill are better than traditional food. Potato salad and corn go well with a barbecue. Cheesecake, strawberry pies, fruit salad and ice cream are popular desserts for summer barbecues.
